

The national flower of Sri Lanka is the Blue Water Lily, also called Nil Manel in Sinhala. It is a beautiful light blue or purple flower that grows in lakes and ponds. The flower opens in the morning and closes at night. It is special because it stands for peace and purity. You can often see it in temples and gardens across Sri Lanka.